- In Sep 26, home sales (excluding ECs) rose 16% yoy and 93% mom to 296 units, as buyers continued to pick up units from existing projects. New launch activity should improve in early-4Q26, with the launch of Lucerne Grand and roll-out of Thomson Reserve. Maintain OVERWEIGHT on property developers. Top picks: CIT and CLI. Stock catalysts include CIT's execution of its S$6b divestment target over 2027-29 and CLI's focus to accelerate growth by recycling S$7b-9b of non-core and legacy investments.

New-home Sales Improve In September

Highlights

- Home sales rose yoy and mom in Sep 26. While new launch activity remained slow in the month of September, new-home sales improved yoy and mom as buyers continued to pick up units from existing projects. Excluding executive condominiums (EC), primary home sales rose 16% yoy and 93% mom to 296 units in Sep 26, according to URA data. The top selling developments during the month were Terra Hill, Lentor Garden Residences and Union Square Residences. Amberwood at Holland, which was launched during the month, saw a modest take-up rate of 34%, with 24 of the 70 units launched sold. This was likely due to its larger-format units (three bedrooms and above) and higher absolute price quantum of S$2.5m and above per unit.
- OCR accounted for bulk of monthly home sales. Take-up in the Outside Central Region (OCR) made up 44% of total ex-EC sales, including 18 landed units at Luxus Hills taken up during the month. Rest of Central Region (RCR) transactions accounted for another 42% and Core Central Region sales took up the remaining 14%.
- URA residential price index flash estimate up 1.4% qoq in 3Q26. Meanwhile, private home prices grew 1.4% qoq in 3Q26, bringing 9M26 price appreciation to 2.8%. Meanwhile, HDB resale prices retraced 0.2% qoq in 3Q26, with prices declining 0.6% since end-25. units. Maintain OVERWEIGHT.

Analysis

- Maintain our forecasts of 8,000-9,000 home sales and... Excluding ECs, primary home sales in 9M26 of 5,343 units appear to be trailing slightly behind our projection of 8,000-9,000 units for 2026. However, we think sales could pick up in early 4Q26 with the roll-out of CIT's Lucerne Grand in early October (350 of 570 units sold during the first weekend of marketing) and the upcoming launch of 1,268-unit Thomson Reserve in the second half of Oct 26.
- ...2-3% price appreciation for 2026. The 2.8% price growth in 9M26 remains within our forecast growth range of 2-3% for the year. With the 3-month SORA continuing to tick up mom in Sep/Oct 26 amid rising land cost, we think buying sentiment is likely to be shaped by developers' pricing strategy and absolute quantum affordability, in addition to location considerations.

Valuation/Recommendation

- Developers are trading below average P/B valuations. Share prices of developer stocks have retraced mom in September and October, in tandem with rising interest rate concerns. The sector is trading at 0.6x P/B, which is just under -0.5SD below the long-term average. Valuations of developers are still inexpensive, as we expect NAV of developer stocks to be supported by still-firm residential prices and the robust outlook on valuation of commercial and retail properties in Singapore.
- We maintain our OVERWEIGHT rating on Singapore developers for their attractive P/B multiples as well as value-unlocking strategies from property companies such as CIT and CLI. During its strategic review announcement, CIT had announced its intent to monetise S$6b of assets, generate S$1b PATMI from divestment gains and lower its net debt to equity ratio to 55% during 2027-29. Meanwhile, CLI also indicated it would sharpen its focus to accelerate growth by unlocking S$7b-9b of embedded value in non-core and legacy investments for future capital recycling and value realisation.

Sector Catalyst/Risk

- Key sector risk includes rising interest rate trend. Although still lower yoy, the 3-month compounded SORA rate has risen from its Apr 26 low. A continuous rise in mortgage rates could erode affordability and dampen demand. Meanwhile, slower macro conditions could moderate employment and wage growth, which in turn, could moderate demand for big-ticket items such as housing.
